Workshop & Lecture #1

Seven Non-financial Challenges to Successful Retirement

Think retirement is easy? Think again! For most of us, this transition is the most significant experience working adults will have. To retire in the 21st century America is very different from that of our parents or grandparents. Even the concept of retirement has been altered. In retirement, our role in the family changes with new responsibilities; we frequently lose old work friends only to gain new friendships. So it should be no surprise that these new realities and intimidating circumstances often leave us confused, stressed and frustrated about what it takes to collect the hard won prize of retirement.

Upon closer examination of what it takes to make a successful transition into retirement, we discover seven unique, non-financial challenges that we can, and need, to overcome. In this lecture, we will identify each challenge, discuss what it takes to succeed, and develop individual strategies to begin the non-financial retirement process.
