

2011 Adult Workshop & Lecture Series Carlsbad Senior Center

Workshop & Lecture #4:

Women, Retirement and the Power in Aging

Having achieved higher education, more freedom, greater influence in the workplace, and full partnership in human affairs, women will experience aging and longevity differently than did their mothers and other women in previous generations. As a growing force of a generation known for affecting change, how will these women change the face of retirement? Change the view of aging? How will the virtues of mature women influence our social structure, family dynamics, and communities? What part of the “Grandmother Hypothesis” explains the role of this generation of women?

We invite you join us to explore these questions, to examine the goals of women that use the power of aging to make a difference and to discovery your power and your wisdom to create your next life chapter.

Location:

City of Carlsbad
Senior Center

799 Pine Avenue Carlsbad, CA 92008-2428

Cost:

Free admission, but seating is limited.

Reservations are recommended; call 760-602-4650.

Date & Time:

Wednesday, July 27 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.